2. What Is Tapentadol?

Tapentadol is a centrally acting opioid analgesic prescribed for moderate to severe acute pain in adults. It has a dual mechanism of action:

1. Mu-opioid receptor activation
  - Alters how the brain perceives pain

2. Norepinephrine reuptake inhibition

- Enhances pain signal suppression in the nervous system

Because of this combined action, Tapentadol may offer effective pain relief with a different tolerability profile compared to traditional opioids when used under medical supervision.

3. Medical Uses of Tapentadol

Tapentadol is commonly prescribed for:

1. Acute pain following injury or surgery
2. Severe musculoskeletal pain
3. Chronic pain conditions (short-term management)
4. Patients with limited response to other analgesics

Treatment decisions should always be guided by a licensed healthcare professional to ensure safety and appropriateness.
